

Camping by Tricia Riordan
www.happydailydose.com

	Imagine that we are going camping for the weekend.
	We have to drive to the campsite.
	Turn onto the dirt road and watch out for the potholes. It can get a bit bumpy!
	Here we are! Let's put up the tent. We have to hammer the tent pegs into the ground.
	Unroll your sleeping bag on top of the mattress inside your tent.
	You decide to go for a walk down to the lake.
	There are lots of people swimming and splashing in the cool, refreshing water.
	Hop into your boat and go for a ride around the lake. Feel the air in your face as you zoom across the water.
	It is starting to get hot sitting in the boat.
	We need to put on some sunscreen.
	Put on your sunglasses.
	And don't forget your hat!
	Over on the far shore you can see some people riding horses.
	Time to go back to the campsite, so off you go in the boat again. Oh no! The wind has blown your hat off!
	The trees around the campsite are green, tall and full of leaves, swaying gently in the breeze.
	We are going to have a fire in the campsite tonight, so we need to help chop some wood.
	The air is so fresh. Take some big breaths in and feel the air as it enters your lungs.
	It is getting late. Sit around the campfire and look up at the stars-the sky is clear and you can see millions of stars.
	You feel so peaceful.
	Snuggle up with someone special and talk about the different constellations that you can see.